Jim Dumont

Staff Program Manager

jimdumont@yahoo.com
831 454 6056

Accomplished Project and Program Manager with 20 years experience in computer software, hardware and Internet industries.

CUTTING EDGE: Key member of Apple's Macintosh team in 1984 and iPod team in 2001; Yahoo's Panama ad system in 2006.

CREATOR: Design, implement, and continually refine innovative communication methods and cultural activities.

COMMUNICATOR: Consummate communicator across all mediums: printed, oral, and presentation.

LEADER: Form, lead, coach, and mentor action-oriented teams and programs - I get it done.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Linkedin (2011 - 2019)

Staff Technical Program Manager, Tools Engineering

As part of Engineering's Tools Team, responsibilities included supporting the Performance Team in project planning, and cross-team Performance Team product evangelism and adoption. Key goals of these efforts included improved website performance and efficiency, improved member experience, and lower operational costs. Managed/coached Agile-based development.

Staff Technical Program Manager, San Francisco Engineering Office

Specially selected to manage the project establishing Linkedin's San Francisco office - the company's first major Engineering center outside Mountain View. From Mohak Shroff, VP Consumer Engineering: "This move, and the bootstrapping of a San Francisco office ... is a critical component to scaling our team and hiring. Thank you for the huge part you played in all this ... and absolutely crushing the execution."

Yahoo! (2006 - 2011)

Senior Program Manager, Mobile

Reporting to the Vice President of Mobile Audience Products, responsibilities included project coordination and oversight for new Yahoo! Mobile website and social networking products.

- Led new Yahoo! Mobile homepage development which after launch became the #1 iPhone news application surpassing NY Times, USA Today, and the Wall Street Journal.

Apple (2001 - 2006)

Senior Program Manager, iPod Division Senior Program Manager, iPod Division

Reporting to Tony Fadell, Senior Vice President of the iPod Division, responsibilities included executive and cross-functional project reporting, and managing all divisional administrative issues.

- Helped build iPod team from 7 people with no sales or revenue to a staff of 150, with quarterly sales of 8.IM units and $1.7B revenue.
- Served as Chief of Staff and drove all iPod project review presentations to Apple senior management.

Software Engineering Program Manager, iPod Engineering

Reporting to Tony Fadell, Director of iPod Engineering, served as key member of the original iPod engineering team.

- Served as Software Engineering Program Manager for all early generation iPods and the iSight camera.

Apple (1984 - 1997)

Language Kit Group Manager | International Software Group Project Manager | Evangelism Developer Seeding Services Manager | Hardware Project Coordinator | Macintosh Software QA Engineer

EDUCATION & ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- National University, San Diego, CA - MBA (honors)
- Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, IL - BS
- Certified Scrum Master, Scrum Alliance (CSM)
- Apple Developer Group - Management Excellence Award
- Apple Evangelism - Apple Values Award
- Apple - Executive Producer, Holiday Party ($ IM budget - 6,000 attendees)